

Health Products and Services on the Web

According to a recent study,¹ online expenditures by consumers for health products and services are expected to grow to almost $10 billion over the next four years:

To what degree should you be involved in this market?

1. Ally or die to cure the ills of online consumer health. Jupiter Communications, Inc. January 26, 2000.

